A CARD.

Pass Christian, Oct. 27, 1902.

To the Citizens and Voters of Pass Christian, Miss.:

In announcing myself a candidate for the office of mayor I do so with the full determination of doing everything within my power for the benefit of the whole people if elected. I am in favor of beautifying and improving our town and will use my best endeavors for its welfare. I am in favor of all enterprises that benefit our town and give employment to our people.

I believe the revenue is sufficient for all necessary purposes, and I am not in favor of increasing the burdens upon the taxpayers.

I am opposed to giving away public franchises for nothing, and believe the people should decide by popular vote when contracts are entered running ten years, and amounts reaching twenty thousand dollars are involved. I will administer the affairs of my office fairly and justly, and grant no special privileges to any one.

Hoping I will merit the goodwill of our people, and you will stand by me now, as you have done in the past.

I beg to remain, very truly yours,

JOHN T. McDONALD.

A CARD.

All applications for appointments to the offices of marshal and clerk, shall be given due consideration, and a choice made by me of the most competent man to fill said position after the election is over.

I am a staunch and solid supporter of all enterprises now operating in the town towards stockholders and owners, guaranteeing them my hearty support, knowing full well the benefits accruing from same, especially to our laboring class of people.

Shall It Be Forward, or Backwards?

Mr. John T. McDonald announces his candidacy for mayor in this issue, and publishes a card setting forth the policy he will pursue if elected. He filed the office for two terms some years back, and the people are still familiar with his administrations.

Occupying the position of an opponent of Mr. McDonald for the office of mayor we feel some delicacy in taking issue with him on his views as expressed, but considering a part of them as a direct imputation of the present council's actions, and having been a member of the council which granted the franchise to which he refers we feel that in justice to the mayor and the other members of the council as well as ourselves that such cognizance of the matter should be taken as is due the public.

It is a well established fact that ever since the Rhodes' administration Pass Christian has enjoyed a certain amount of progressiveness that has redounded to the benefit of the people at large. Under him new streets were opened, the old ones straightened, graded and otherwise improved, and other necessary changes made or advocated to beautify the town. Following came the beginning of the Brandt's administrations, which continued the same policy of progressiveness by numbering among its first acts the granting of a franchise to the Pass Packing Company for the erection of its plant at its present site. Against this act of the council there was opposition by some who had cause and a great deal of "kicking" by those who oppose everything on general principles and are too short-sighted to see the benefit that the investment of capital for the employment of labor means to a community. The fight on the holders of the factory franchise is still being made by some of the very persons who are kicking on the electric light one. But, fortunately, with little or no effect. The prosperity of the working people (we mean those who earnestly desire employment) since the establishment of the factory here has been too pronounced for the bawling moan of the kicker to deceive any one with a ounce of sense. Every channel of trade or investment has felt its good effect. We have more business houses and the local trade has increased more than 50 per cent. since the administration of the town's affairs have been in the hands of men who encouraged these industrial improvements. In addition numerous small cottages have been erected in the rear of town, which have found steady occupants, while front property has advanced in value and the demand for houses here by visitors was never as large as it has been for the past two years.

The sprinkling of the streets is another forward movement of the Brandt's administration which has given the Pass a high prestige over competing points as a summer resort. The holding of the three artesian wells and the chase of the east end and the water work systems are valuable assets and will prove sources of good revenue to the town. These steps were also advocated by the kickers as rank extravagance, but their benefits are too evident for this cry to find lodgment in the mind of intelligent people.

The last franchise granted, and one which we believe will prove in its way as beneficial as the other have, is now receiving the attention of the "objectors," as might have been expected.

We repeat now, that as a member of the council that granted both we are willing to stand squarely upon our position.

The charge that the electric light franchise was given away for nothing, is without foundation, for while the holders were not required to pay any stipulated amount for that privilege, the contract is conditioned that the company is to furnish light at a figure, which is from $2.50 to $3.00 each lamp per month below that which New Orleans, Natchez, Ellenville, and numerous other places using the lights pay for them. Thus it is seen that the council had reason to believe that the town would get good value for the privilege granted. On the other hand, if those opposed to electric lights were sincere in their opposition, why didn't they present a protest to the council during the two weeks the matter laid before that body? Had they done so we know their protest would have received due consideration. But no, they wait until the matter is closed, and then begin to discharge their angry breath of "hot air." It will require more than any such flimsy pretenses to turn the people back ten years into the old rut, nor do we think they will give their support to any movement that will retard or prevent the further improvement of the town. We must go forward.

Pass Christian is enjoying more prosperity today than ever before. It is more and better streets; it has banking and telephone facilities; it has better schools; its hotels are better furnished; the number of business houses have doubled; all its small houses are occupied, and best of all those who wish employment can find it. She has attained a wide famed reputation as the most popular summer and winter resort on the coast, and it behooves our people to see that the same is maintained and advanced by the selection of such officials as are known to be favorable to the improvements that will further such advancement. She needs electric lights and a good fire department. Her tax levy is far below that of any of her sister towns, and that of any in the State, and yet her judicial management of her municipal funds there will be no necessity of any extra taxation so large as to be a burden to the citizen, and yet to the alarmist to become alarmed. It is now with the voters to decide whether or not they desire a continuation of the town's advancement or a return to the old conditions of stagnation.

There were without employment, when houses were vacant over half the year, and when "fly time" prevailed with the business people nine months out of every twelve. If they desire the latter conditions then they should vote for such candidates as represent such sentiments, but we desire to impress upon them that the writer is not one of that class. We believe in progressiveness, and sincerely hope that nothing will occur to retard the progressive spirit that prevails now. That's our platform, and if elected will endeavor to carry it out.

All Saints Day.

This being All Saints Day divine service will be held in Trinity Church at 11 a. m., with sermon and celebration of the Holy Communion.

Service also on Sunday at 7 a. m., and 11 a. m.

There will be no service on the Sunday following, as Dr. Logan will be absent in attendance upon the meeting of the Standing Committee.

BISHOP THOMPSON.

Recent letters from New York give favorable account of the Bishop's progress toward recovery, but indicate that it may yet be some time before he will be able to resume the duties of his office. A meeting of the Standing Committee of the Diocese will be held in Jackson on the 15th inst.

Mr. W. K. Wilson is enjoying a visit to friends in Canada.

Mr. J. C. Liversedge was among the Sunday visitors from New Orleans.

Miss Althea Rhone, of West Baton Rouge, La., is visiting her uncle, Dr. A. R. Robertson.

Mr. and Mrs. Herndon of New Orleans will move over Monday to occupy their new cottage at White Harbor.

The English Manufacturing Company of Mobile has an advertisement in this issue. If in need of anything in their line our readers will do well to correspond with them.

Mr. A. G. Proctor of St. Joseph, Mich., was here on Monday and arranged with Miss Little to take her house for the winter, and will open it as the Proctor Hotel on December 1st.

Mr. J. W. Matthews and Mr. S. M. Thornton left on last Thursday night for North Bend Plantation, where both have accepted positions as cane weighers during the grinding season.

Mrs. Jas. K. Hackett and Edwin Donnelly, to well known and popular actors of New York, are at Oakdale, having come south to enjoy a hunting trip, and are greatly pleased with their success.

Don't miss the Woodman's excursion to New Orleans tomorrow morning. It may be your last chance to see the great Buffalo Bill Wild West Show, and the fare for the trip is so small that you won't miss the amount.

Mr. G. J. Cronovich is announced in today's Beacon as a candidate for alderman from the first ward. He is a young man of good character, and will no doubt endeavor to serve his constituents faithfully and well if elected.

The man who sends away a five-dollar job of printing because he can get it for 25 cents less than the local printing office will do it, may think he is saving money, but he learns different when he pays the express on the bundle.

In this issue Jas. F. Curtis announces for mayor of Pass Christian. In his card he states the policy he intends to pursue, if elected. Mr. Curtis has been connected with the council for a number of years, and would no doubt make a good executive officer. We are sorry that we cannot wish him success, but as we are an aspirant for the same office it would be inconsistent for us to do so.

While at work at his saw mill last Saturday evening Mr. C. E. Spence met with a painful injury, a piece of sawy wheel striking him in the eye, inflicting so much pain as to necessitate his going to the city Monday for special medical treatment, which gave him great relief. He was accompanied to New Orleans by his son, Dr. J. H. Spence.
